

LOOKS LIKE FRIGO FOR BIG CONVENTION

Democrats May Name Candidate In California—Prize For Wilson's Great Work

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—Resolutions endorsing the treaty of Versailles and denouncing unpatriotic attitude of Senators who would defeat it or by nullifying reservations, were unanimously adopted today by the Democratic National Committee in session here.

"Arrogant" republican leadership of the Senate was denounced as having earned the "contempt of the world" by throttling the treaty for seven months and the Senate is called upon to "quit playing politics" with the question of ratification.

Reviewing the legislative record of the two Wilson administrations and manner in which the war was won, the resolution also expressed gratification that the President is regaining his health after his breakdown, "due largely to his efforts for world peace."

The resolutions also pointed to the enfranchisement of women and also giving labor "a fair show for the first time," as democratic achievements.

The race for the national convention city apparently has narrowed down to San Francisco and Kansas City, with supporters of the former claiming they have enough votes to insure beyond question selection of the former city. Kansas City offered a guarantee of $50,000 and free use of a convention hall. Its spokesmen declared its selection "would cheer up every democrat from the Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains."

Sullivan Presents Chicago's Offer

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—Before the Democratic National Committee here today, Roger Sullivan announced Chicago is ready to guarantee $75,000 for the next Democratic convention. Isidore Dockweller outbid him with a proffer of $125,000 for expenses with free use of the municipal auditorium. Dockweller said San Francisco asked for the convention as a token of appreciation what the Pacific Coast did in the last election. Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, speaking for Chicago, asked that the convention go there so the large foreign born population could see at first hand that the democratic party is not working against them, asserting that republican propaganda made them so believe.

FAMOUS PAINTER DEAD

Paris, Jan. 8.—August Renoir, the famous French impressionist, died at Cannes this week; aged 78, on the day that his picture of the Pont Neuf fetched 100,000 francs at an art sale. In his youth he often paid for his dinner with a picture. Renoir was one of the first of the impressionists. He worked to the last and died with his palette in his hands. "I feel I am just beginning to know my trade," he said when he was well over 70.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

A farmer carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The farmer looked at the merchant and said:

"Why didn't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."

LAST BIG OPERATION OF WAR BY U. S.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 8.—Discharging the obligation of the United States and the Allies for the part they played in the world war, the United States Shipping Board today announced it would furnish ships to move Czechoslovak, Polish, Jugo Slav and Rumanian troops from Siberia. Repatriation will be at the rate of about 10,000 monthly and will be the last big operation of the war. The Czech-Slovak troops deserted from the Austrian army, joined the Russians and formed an important unit until the disintegration of the Russian armies when they withdrew to Siberia.

OIL SALESMAN OUT AFTER MONTH IN JAIL

Harvey Gibson, the young oil salesman, who got in bad with hotel here some weeks ago, was released by County Judge Price last week, upon settlement of two of the three counts against him. His brother came and took up a worthless check which he had given; he pled guilty to defrauding a hotel keeper and paid the fine and costs. Judge Price then released the young man on his own recognizance to answer to the February grand jury on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Gibson appears to be a victim of tuberculosis and the entire circumstance simply "got in bad" and the entire simply "got in bad" when he did not find the business of selling oil stock as profitable as it had been described to him. Gibson spent almost a month in jail here.

No Service Tonight or Friday

The union services of the churches of the city, in which the problems of an awakened church have been discussed, will not be held on Thursday and Friday nights but will be continued in the Sunday services of the churches concluding at the Methodist church Sunday night. On Sunday morning in the various churches the ministers are asked to discuss "The Church Awakened by the Call for Workers."

The service last night at the Christian church was well attended in spite of the weather. A large chorus led the music which was featured by a mixed quartet composed of Miss Miriam Nolan, Miss Zerelda Baxter, J. C. Ballard and W. L. Arnold.

The special message on "The Church Awakened by a Call for Co-operation," was brought by Dr. E. E. Moore, of the Presbyterian church. Taking Christ's prayer as the basis for his discussion, he pleaded for the closest co-operation of all branches of the church, declaring that such co-operation alone could hope to meet the issues of our day.

MAY SPEND $35,000 TO BUILD BRIDGES

(By Associated Press)

Bonds Voted To Construct Clay's Ferry Bridge May Be Used All Over County

In 1916 Madison county voted $35,000 in bonds, the purpose of which was to pay her part of a new bridge at Clay's Ferry. The order for the bond election did not specify which bridge was to be built, however, merely that the sum named should be used for bridge and road construction. Since the Clay's Ferry bridge building project has practically been abandoned, for some time, it has been suggested that the county could divert the sum voted to various points in the county. It is pointed out that a large number of permanent concrete bridges, badly needed at a numerous places could be put up if this fund is available.

At its meeting Tuesday the Fiscal Court directed the County Attorney to test out in the courts the validity and legality of the bond issue, and if sustained, it is probable that the bonds will be sold and the proceeds applied to building some much needed bridges over the county. The fiscal court's order in the matter reads as follows:

Order as to Road and Bridge Bonds

It is appearing that the Fiscal Court of Madison county was authorized by the qualified electors of Madison county at an election held during the year 1916, and by proper judgment of the County Court after the holding of said election, to issue and sell bonds of Madison county, Kentucky, in the amount of ($35,000) thirty-five thousand dollars for the purpose of improving construction roads and bridges in said county; upon motion of Esquire Williams duly seconded an passed order that the County Attorney O. P. Jackson, institute proper legal proceedings in the Circuit Court to determine the validity of said election and all proceedings and orders in connection therewith and also as to the legal rights of the Fiscal Court of Madison county to sell said bonds during the year 1920 and to expend the remainder arising from said sale in the roads and bridges of Madison county at such places in the county at the court may see proper.

Early in the participation of the United States in the world war, the American Red Cross perceived the value of mobilizing the school children of the country and the Junior Red Cross was organized. Before the war ended nine million children were enrolled and helped in the war fund and membership campaigns, in chapter production of relief supplies and manufacturing furniture for the refugees whose homes and household goods were destroyed.

Children everywhere in the United States responded to the call to service sounded by President Wilson as head of the American Red Cross. This photograph is that of an enthusiastic young Japanese member of the Junior Red Cross of Spokane, Wash., starting out on the ambitious undertaking of collecting "a mile of pennies" for war relief. A comprehensive peace program is now being worked out for the Junior Red Cross, which is being held intact.

Big Fleet Starts For Winter Training Off Cuba

(By Associated Press)

Old Point Comfort, Va., Jan. 8.—The main body of the Atlantic fleet, including seven dreadnoughts, 35 destroyers and a number of submarines and auxiliary vessels, under command of Admiral Henry B. Wilson, sails today from Hampton Roads for Guantanamo, Cuba, for the annual winter manoeuvres and exercises.

The fleet as constituted is relatively smaller than previous years due to the fact that lack of men kept the number of pre-dreadnoughts, battleships, several cruisers and a large number of destroyers in port. Of the 108 destroyers attached to the Atlantic fleet, only 35 have large enough crews to warrant sending them to sea.

Admiral Wilson's flag flies from the main of the dreadnought Pennsylvania, wartime flagship of the United States fleet. The other dreadnoughts in the fleet are the Oklahoma, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Florida and Delaware. The North Dakota, recently at Constantinople, is en route to Cuba to join the fleet.

DON'T UNDERINFLATE TIRES IN WINTER

Winter invariably brings inquiries to local tire dealers on the question of opinion seems to be that more air is required during cold weather. This theory has been exploded by an exhaustive test conducted by The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company.

Many motorists believe that a certain amount of air should be let out of tires in warm weather to make up for the increased air pressure caused by the heat, and that a corresponding amount of air should be pumped into tires in cooler weather.

A 34x4 tire, to which makers prescribe a seventy-pound pressure, was used for the test. Air at various temperatures was pumped into the tire and the tire run at excessive speed under severe road conditions. The changes in pressure were found to be negligible. Goodrich recommends an even pressure the year round with adherence to the pressure designated for the various sizes of tires.

Frequent observations conducted by experts of the company have demonstrated that the vast majority of motorists keep their tires underinflated. Even if hot weather makes a slight difference in pressure it would be policy to risk it rather than take the chance of having the tire underinflated. Of the two evils the latter is far more universal and destructive.

In this condition, it is well to remember that air pressure is just as apt to increase in cold weather as in hot. This comes about by the friction of the tire against the road where the going is rough. Yet the motorist never thinks of letting out air in the winter. A safe rule is to keep a standard pressure.

FISCAL COURT FOR FEDERAL HIGHWAY

State Commissioner Asked To Submit Plans and Estimates For Madison's Part

Madison county went on record by official action of her Fiscal Court at its meeting Tuesday, as heartily in favor of co-operating with her neighbor counties of Boyle and Garrard in the construction of the federal highway, which will connect the western branch of the Dixie Highway with the eastern branch at Richmond.

The Fiscal Court by appropriate resolution requested the Commissioner of Highways of the State to have a survey made and to furnish plans and estimates of cost for Madison county's portion of the highway, which begins at the Garrard county line at Paint Lick and extends on to Richmond. Both Boyle and Garrard counties have already pledged their co-operation in building this highway and have been waiting on action by the Madison court. The formal order entered by the Madison Fiscal Court is as follows:

It appearing to the court that it is proposed to construct, reconstruct and otherwise improve a road from Richmond, Madison county, through the counties of Madison, Garrard, Boyle, Marion, Taylor, Green and Hart, thereby connecting the eastern section of the Dixie Highway with the western section of said highway, and it further appearing that the Commissioner of Public Roads of the State of Kentucky, has, under the authority granted him by law designated said route as a Federal Aid Road, and therefore, entitled to receive aid from the federal government for its construction and improvement, and whereas, about 12 miles of said road is located in Madison county, same being the Richmond and Lancaster road from Richmond, Ky., to Paint Lick, Ky.

Resolved, that it is the sense of the court that said road should be improved and constructed and that the Commissioner of Public Roads be and is hereby requested to have survey, plans and estimates of cost prepared in order that the cost of said improvement and construction may be approximately known, and it is further resolved that the court contribute from the revenues of Madison county such a per cent of the cost of said construction and improvement as may be determined by this court, to be fair and equitable.

It is further resolved that it is the sense of this court that this order and resolution be given proper publicity, and that the citizens of Madison county living on or adjacent to said road in Madison county be given an opportunity to assist in the construction of said road.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

MAY SUPPORT BRYAN

William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, issued a warning to "managers of the Republican party in New York that they may make Williams Jennings Bryan the next President of the United States if they continue to play and loose with the prohibition issue and the moral element that favors it."

"Mr. Bryan," said Anderson "stands as good, if not better chance than any other man to be the Democratic nominee for President. It is not at all impossible that Mr. Bryan might carry New York in 1920 with the support of the women and the Prohibitionists. He is one of the original Women Suffrage advocates and a life-long opponent of the saloon. Although he was late getting into the National Prohibition fight he performed tremendous service as an advocate in bringing about ratification."

Anderson also wrote to Assembly Speaker Sweet that if he were sincere in his support of the Prohibition. Enforcement Bill he would appoint a Rules Committee to the legislation.

1/3 Less Coal— 1/2 More Heat

You can save from a third to a half of your fuel and have a much warmer home than ever before if you will install a CALORIC.

The CALORIC is the remarkable furnace that heats without pipes, through only one register. It circulates heat by Nature's own method, forcing warm air up into the entire house and drawing cool air down into the furnace to be reheated and purified.

The CALORIC heats practically all types of homes, bungalow or three-story house, up to eighteen rooms. It keeps kitchens and back bedrooms just as comfortable and warm as the rest of the house. Also heats churches, factories, stores and other business buildings. More than 50,000 already installed.

The CALORIC can be installed in new or old houses—no cutting of walls for pipes and no interference with present system of heating. It burns coal, coke, gas, wood or lignite, and saves from one-third to one-half the fuel.

No More Fire Marshals

They say a new broom sweeps clean and all that. Ed Morrow's new state administration is starting out well with an apparent desire to cut out useless offices. So far, the state's fire marshal's department has been done away with—not abolished, for it was created by legislative enactment and can only be abolished by the same method. However, Auditor Craig has said he will not appoint a fire marshal or deputies, "fire-putters-out" as Stanley once called them.

Now this seems well on the face of it, but the fact remains that the taxpayers of Kentucky, as a whole do not pay one cent toward the fire marshal's department. Insurance companies are assessed a small amount for doing business in Kentucky, to support this department, and the salaries paid the fire marshals have never come out of the taxpayers' pockets, through state taxation. Of course it has been argued that insurance companies made it back from those who carry insurance. That may be true. But we found that a visit from one of the state fire marshals every once in a while led to the keeping of much cleaner premises, paper not piled up in cellars or trash allowed to accumulate, thus making veritable fire traps. Now that the fire marshal's department has been abolished, of course the insurance companies will not have that expense to pay, so we may expect lower insurance rates. At least such will be the natural deduction if there is to be expected any real benefit from the abolition of such a department.

Worth Trying

While making New Year resolutions, here's one proposed by the Madisonville Hustler that all the family can adopt and all be happier for so doing: "Suppose husband and wife, parents and children, especially those who have never tried it, determine in their minds that for the present year, not a single one of the party shall be guilty of saying an unkind or cross word to the other during the next twelve months. By the end of the year each will be so proud of the result that after through life they will find a pleasure in the company of each other."

BACK TO FARM

MOVEMENT NOTED

According to a report just issued by the vocational Summary it appears that the back to the farm movement has started in earnest.

The report states that 13,550 pupils over the country were enrolled in agricultural subject in vocational schools during 1918 and 1919.

The report further states that this is an increase of 444 students being trained in this subject. It is interesting to note that this is only the second year in which practical instruction of this sort has been within reach of the average child of school age.

The Bureau of the Census approximates an increase of 1,000,000 farms in the United States during the last ten years. This increase, together trained men to operate them, has with the increase of scientifically secured the future of agricultural America.

The Country Editor

High prices and war conditions are working havoc with many of the small newspapers of the country. Those located where the field is small and cannot be enlarged are being driven to the wall. Some are being consolidated, others taken over by stronger organizations, others just close the shop and call it a hopeless battle. In a prosperous Ohio city last week a paper that had been running seventy-six years quit the struggle and will appear no more. There has been a heavy loss all over the land among the smaller papers. These publications are of real importance in their communities and their passing will be a loss. They carry the familiar news of the small communities and after a few years become important institutions. There are few who put in longer hours, do more varied service and draw less in payment than the editor of a small town newspaper.—Exchange.

QUALITY OF BLOOD COUNTS

French Army Furnished the Thoroughbreds that Enabled Our Guns to Stop Ludendorff's Drive Toward Paris and Victory.

If, after seventy-five years of exhaustive and convincing experimentation, a work that had cost the great military powers of Continental Europe—Russia, Austria, Hungary, the German Empire, France and Italy—in the aggregate a matter of $400,000,000 or $500,000,000, additional proof of the superlative value of thoroughbred blood in the military horse and the comparative worthlessness of cold-blood that proof was supplied by the experience of the Second Division of the American Expeditionary Force in the summer of 1918. The Second Division was the division in which the famous Marine Corps was brigaded. The Second was one of the best equipped of the American grand units as regards horseflesh. The cream of the remount service was in its artillery and transport departments.

In June, 1918, the Second Division was ordered from a quiet sector of the western front near Verdun to the western angle of the great Marne salient the German offensive of March to June had created in the French line. Foch had sensed the impending Ludendorff thrust that was to win Paris and a victorious peace, and he was assembling all his available soldiers to meet it. The carrying out of this order by the Second Division involved a march of less than 100 miles, 97 to be exact. Yet 80 per cent of the cold-blooded horses of the artillery brigade succumbed to the rigors of this forced march without having come under gunfire. Upward of half the horses that dropped out of line were so completely done up they were unfit to be sent to base stations for recuperation with the ultimate object of returning to service.

The French divisions that accompanied the American divisions on this march lost no more than five per cent of their horses. But the French artillery, cavalry and transport horses were half and three-quarter breeds, the produce of a system of breeding that had been instituted by a far-sighted government sixty or seventy years before the outbreak of the great war.

Second Division Suffers.

Because of the collapse of its horse equipment and artillery brigade of the Second Division did not reach its objective until a day after the great strategic that was to terminate in the signing of peace. The German army for an armistice in October had begun. The Second Division fought the first day without artillery protection and suffered outrageously in consequence. The artillery brigade reached the zone of conflict late in the second day and was ordered to take part in the series of actions that completely deranged Ludendorff's ambitious plan of conquest and put the great German army on the defensive only because American remount officers were able to re-equip it from the surplus horse supply of the French army. The half and three-quarter breeds. The French were in a position to furnish these indispensable animals because up to the beginning of March the war had been a war of position rather than a war of movement and no hard demand had been made on the artillery and cavalry horse reserves of the French army.

When the great war came to its unexpected finish the United States had under arms, at home and abroad, some 3,700,000 soldiers, of which 974,000 were infantry, 334,000 were engineers, 388,000 were field artillery, and only 29,000 were cavalry. The field artillery was horsed after a fashion. So was the engineer contingent. But the quality of the horses that served the field artillery and the engineer contingent generally was no better, if, indeed, it was as good, than was the quality of the horses that served the artillery brigade of the Second Division in the march from Verdun to the Marne salient.

Our Cavalry Not There.

For such masses of infantry and artillery there should have been 250,000 to 350,000 cavalry, according to the most advanced military opinion in the United States and abroad. Yet only an insignificant fraction of the absurdly small mounted contingent of the gigantic military establishment of the United States of November 1st, 1918—the second, third, sixth and fifteenth cavalry regiments—was in France. Most of our 20,000 troopers were patrolling the Mexican frontier. Moreover, only a moiety of the so-called American cavalry forces in France was mounted. At no time was it possible to completely horse the second, third, sixth and fifteenth regiments. The troopers of these regiments, when they were not serving with machine gun contingents, were guarding munitions and quartermaster's stores. This condition was due to the disgraceful fact that the United States had no suitable mounts for its cavalry. France and Great Britain, to insure prompt and effective co-operation by the American grand units in the great counter offensive of Foch might have serviceable artillery horses of the half and three-quarter bred types because, as had already been pointed out, the struggle for civilization up to the beginning of 1918 on the western front had been for the most part a war of position rather than one of maneuver. Their reserves of artillery horses had not been exhausted. But neither France nor Great Britain felt disposed to equip with horses the cavalry of an army that should have entered the conflict with the best mounted and best equipped cavalry to be found on the planet.—Advt.

BEND

Ring out the old, ring in the new. Christmas is gone, New Year is here. No doubt many have resolved to do better this year, 1920. New Year resolutions may be either a good or a bad thing, depending upon the nature of the resolution, and it being fulfilled, no one should make an un-fulfilled, no one should make an un-fulfilled resolution. One made and not characterized has a tendency to weak-

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition. If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

Girls Make Poultry Record

The hens owned by poultry club girls in Mississippi do not lay golden eggs, but they lay enough of the ordinary kind to permit their owners to buy the golden variety if they desire to do so.

One of these successful young poultry growers is Gregory Russell, who lives in Lawrence county, Miss. This is her first year in poultry club work. She bought all of the dry feed for her flock but raised a tenth-acre of oats and rape for their green feed. This 15-year-old girl's net return this year from her poultry work, which was supervised by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State college, was $256.

Vivian Smith, of Yalabusha county, Miss., has been in poultry club work for four years. This year her net return from the work was $386.86. She started four years ago with seven chickens and made a net return of $70. The next year she doubled this amount and the third year she cleared $240 from her poultry. Miss Smith has the largest flock in her section. She believes in selling the old hens, keeping the pullets for layers, and giving the birds plenty of green feed.

Both of these girls won a recent trip to Washington for making the highest return on their project of any girl in their districts.

substitute with 2 tablespoons flour and add 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 1 1/2 teaspoon of paprika. Then dilute and make smooth with 2 cups milk. Add to strained peas and reheat, stirring constantly until creamy and smooth. Left-over scraps of ham or a ham bone may be used instead of the salt pork. If ham is used be careful not to use too much salt.

Tomato Soup

Cook 1 quart of tomatoes with 2 cups water, 1 slice of onion, 8 peppercorns, 5 cloves, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and a small bit of bay leaf for 20 minutes. Strain and add 1/2 teaspoon soda. Carefully brown 2 tablespoons butter and add 3 tablespoons flour. Blend well and add a little of the hot mixture to the browned flour and butter. Stir until smooth and creamy and add remaining hot mixture slowly, so the mixture will not curdle. Strain and serve hot.

Celery Soup

Wash 3 or 4 stalks of celery, cut in short lengths and cook in 2 1/2 cups boiling salted water until soft. Press through sieve. Scald 2 1/2 cups milk with 1 slice of onion, remove onion and add scalded milk to celery pulp. Cream 3 tablespoons butter with 1/2 cup flour and add 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Dilute with a little of the hot liquid. When smooth and creamy combine with the remaining hot liquid. Cook 15 or 20 minutes, stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Serve with croutons, toasted crackers or toast strips.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR LOWER PRICES SOON

Howard Figg, food administrator working under Attorney General Palmer to reduce the cost of living through the Lever anti-profiteering act, says he expects said cost of living to be reduced fully 25 per cent by June 1.

Royal Meeker, United States commissioner of labor and statistics, whose job it is to study price levels, trends and influences, says high price are here for a long stay; that Figg could put all the profiteers in jail without affecting the price levels appreciably, and that until the basic causes for high prices—in which he does not include profiteering—are removed, we will have the high cost of living with us.

"Undoubtedly profiteering of a most reprehensible sort has existed and does exist today," said Meeker, "but the profiteer is a result of even-increasing prices, rather than the cause thereof. His influence in boosting prices is negligible."

"Before attempting to answer the query when, if ever, prices are to fall, it would be well to consider the causes that have brought about their remarkable rise since 1915. These may be summarized as follows:

"1. By far the most important cause is the enormous additions to the circulating medium, money and its substitutes.

"2. Decrease in the actual physical quantities of goods produced and exchanged.

"3. Manufacture for and purchase by the governments of the world for war and other purposes.

"4. Changes in the demands for and the supply of goods and services.

"If prices are to be lowered the causes operating to boost prices must be attacked. The amount of money and checks in circulation must be appreciably reduced, and the quantities of necessary goods must be increased in amount.

"The stocks of commodities manufactured on government account must be salvaged and thrown on the market.

"I see no prospect of any considerable fall in prices for several years to come.

"Any considerable slump in prices would have a disastrous effect. A period of falling prices is always a time of business depression, failures and unemployment."

Near East Situation Now "Most Desperate in World," Says Hoover.

© 1919, Underwood & Underwood. Herbert Hoover.

Herbert Hoover, who has now become a member of the Executive Committee of Near East Relief, which is caring for nearly 2,000,000 Armenian refugees and who, if any one, speaks with authority when he tells of human suffering, says in a formal statement:

"In my opinion, the situation in the Near East is the most desperate in the world."

Mr. Hoover has sent a letter to Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer of Near East Relief, 1 Madison avenue, New York, in which he says:

"In accepting your invitation to become a member of the Executive Committee of the Near East committee, I do so with reluctance, but out of a sense of duty towards one of the most difficult situations in Europe. Until some political settlement can be obtained for the Near East and some government established in responsibility for the care and repatriation of the Armenian population in the Caucasus, this mass of people must live sheerly by the charity of the United States. There are in the Caucasus approximately 1,800,000 Armenians, of whom 800,000 are entirely destitute—refugees from Turkey—and amongst them a tremendous mass of children.

"I cannot too strongly urge upon the members of the committee and their supporters the critical necessity of concentrating every possible effort to support Colonel Haskell's administration in the amounts that he requires; otherwise we shall witness one of the greatest tragedies of the entire war."

NEW SUGAR ORDERS

Retailers must not compel purchasers to buy other goods to obtain sugar, the Federal Trade Commission has ruled at Washington.

Such practices constitute unfair competition, the commission decide in a Chicago case.

A member of a grocery firm, said in discussing the action: When the sugar shortage was acute grocers thruout the country compelled customers to buy a certain amount of other goods before they could get sugar. Now that there is sufficient sugar they have stopped this practice. Grocers say the method insured an equal distribution of supplies and prevented over purchases.

SHELburne's

Some days ago, when prices dropped off we advised the growers to hold back their crops as five of our principal buyers were for various unavoidable reasons off the market. All these buyers are now back on the market and the prices are about as high as at any time this season. So those who wish to do so can come on and sell, though we see no reason to rush the crop on the market; as the big demand and strong competition on this market may force prices up higher. The crop will all be needed to supply the demand. But we cannot expect much for the common dark stuff and short tips that are really not worth much.
